Dr. Mayo, in the course of his remarks, said that in the abstract education means the training of men to know something, to do something, to be something.

Dr. Mayo proceeded to set forth the points in which the free schools are deficient in moral training and susceptible of improvement.

SUNDAY PLAYING.

THE BALL CLUB SUBMITS TO THE COMMISSIONERS' ORDER.

THE GAME AT THE DRIVING PARK. To Be Tested in the Courts This Week.

The Legality of the Commissioners' Order To Be Tested in the Courts This Week.

As announced in Saturday's Critic, the order from the Commissioners regarding Sunday ball playing was sufficient to stop it, and President Hewett concluded that it was useless to attempt to play the game, when informed of the order the police had received.

It is stated that Commissioner Douglas, in giving the order to Major Moore, said: 'That game must be stopped if every club has no statute law to prevent it from being carried off the field on a stretch.'

The club officials were particularly wrothy, and Sunday ball playing gained many adherents through the statement of the Commissioners that the Bible was a part of the old common law, and that it was no statute law to prevent the game, they proposed to substitute brute force for law and stop it at all hazards.

Moral sentiment may sometimes sustain public officials in exceeding their authority, but when it is known that similar Sabbath breaking practices have been permitted and sanctioned, President Hewett says he wants to know why an exception should be made in his case.

The panorama is open every Sunday, ball playing is permitted upon the grounds of Georgetown College and the Columbia Athletic Club, and Sunday concerts and spiritualistic shows are tolerated at the leading theatres.

It is not known exactly what steps the club will take, but it is certain that it proposes to maintain its rights under the law, and will take measures during the coming week to protect itself.

There will be some interesting questions before the courts this week, and Sunday ball playing will be one of them. It may be the club will champion the coming of a Saturday, which would also make a test case.

When the Washingtons saw it was useless to attempt to play at Atlantic Park the Driving Park, just beyond Four Mile Run, was selected, and the game was played in the presence of between 2,500 and 3,000 people.

There was no disorder, and the applause, except in one or two instances, was by hand clapping, although there was no one who could have been distinguished even if the spectators had been themselves hoarse.

The game itself was one-sided, but it was a game in which base-bits and regulars were plentiful. The Washington team batted first, and in the first inning, and McCoy, who formerly played with Washington, was substituted. He did not fare any better for the local team, batted his swift delivery all over the field.

Blint and Whittier made home runs with men on the bases, on two of the longest hits probably ever made in a professional game. Whittier's hit went farther than Blint's, and had it been at Atlantic Park would have easily cleared the extreme southeastern corner of the park.

Every man batted ferociously, and the team made a total of twenty-nine bases off of the sixteen hits. On account of the short time, less than twenty-four hours, which the management had to prepare the grounds, they were in a frightful condition, and so good fielding was impossible. If the grounds are used regularly they will be put in first class condition, and better accommodations made for the crowd.

Flushing boards will be put up and a lower rate of fare made for the transportation of the crowd.

MEMBERS IN THE TEAM. Mr. Jeremiah O'Brien, at one time second baseman of the Washington team, was seen yesterday in the vicinity of present Washington, and he was seen at present wandering around the country. He was disciplined last Tuesday and a heavy fine imposed, and he was indignantly suspended, whereupon he disappeared, and has not been heard from since.

There is likely to be another change before the week is out, and that will be somewhat in the nature of a transfer. If Sullivan can secure a good man he will sign him and the other player be released.
